EXPERIENCE

BlackRock Center for the Arts GERMANTOWN, MD
(MAR 2023–PRESENT) Gallery Director & Curator

DUTIES, ACCOMPLISHMENTS, RELATED SKILLS:

Season programming and exhibition development; developing and managing open calls; budgets; managing and writing contracts/agreements/memoranda of understanding; artist relations; processing artist payments; facilitating art sales; development of educational programs and courses; managing teaching artists, volunteers, and interns; community outreach; writing and production of interpretive materials; marketing including press releases, emails, social media, website management, and promo designs; exhibition design; overseeing acquisition, installation, storage, and handling of artworks; organizing and giving gallery tours; working with schools to develop field trips; liaison to the Art League of Germantown, ALOG, scheduling meeting dates, working with volunteers on art installation; gallery receptions.

- In collaboration with our Performing Arts Director, developed a multimedia festival in honor of Martin Luther King, Jr. Day, Say It Loud! Play It Loud! including a film festival, panel discussions, two art exhibitions, a record fair, all-vinyl DJs, and musical performances.
- I currently serve on committees overseeing a public art project, a design/build of our outdoor stage, and developing a strategic plan for BlackRock.
- I am currently finishing the CORE (Connecting Our Regions Execs) course with Leadership Montgomery, a program where established executives from across the public, private, and nonprofit sectors expand their knowledge, influence, and effectiveness as leaders and advocates for Montgomery County.

Maryland Museum of Military History BALTIMORE, MD
(MAY–AUG 2022, APR–DEC 2023, TEMPORARY CONTRACTS) Museum Curator

DUTIES, ACCOMPLISHMENTS, RELATED SKILLS:

Exhibition development, archival research, writing interpretive materials, exhibition design, archive management, giving museum tours, assisting researchers, assisting Joint Forces Command Historian with interviews, collaborating with the Maryland National Guard and other institutions, facilitating loans and acquisition of artifacts.

- I developed an exhibit on Baltimore radio station WFBR (the World's First Broadcasting Regiment) which in the 1920s broadcast out of the armory where the museum is located.
- I conducted extensive research for the exhibit at partner institutions, the Library of American Broadcasting at the University of Maryland, the National Capital Radio & Television Museum, the Enoch Pratt Free Library, The Baltimore Sun, and the Baltimore Museum of Industry. I also arranged for loans from NCRTV and the Sun.
- I wrote an article on WFBR for the Maryland Military Historical Society Newsletter The Maryland Line.

Independent Curator

(JAN 2008–PRESENT)

DUTIES, ACCOMPLISHMENTS, RELATED SKILLS:

For over a decade, I have collaborated with artists, designers, activists, historians, writers, galleries, radio stations, record labels, activist organizations, musicians, and various institutions to develop exhibitions, publications, workshops, public programs, and performance events.

I HAVE:

- Curated over 20 exhibitions.
- Developed over 60 public programs intended for diverse audiences including panel discussions, workshops, guided tours, lectures, poetry readings, performances, live broadcasts, film screenings, interviews, and more
- Been involved in the review, production, writing, and/or design of 13 publications.
- Maintained websites and digital and physical archives.
- Recently worked with undergraduate students at Old Dominion University in Norfolk, VA, and graduate students at the Maryland Institute College of Art in Baltimore, MD, to develop exhibitions and programs.
- In 2019, founded the collaboratively produced curatorial platform Transceiver Radio, collaborating with over a dozen ethnomusicologists, DJs, artists, activists, community organizers, and musicians including DC community radio stations Radio CPR in Mt. Pleasant and WE ACT Radio in Anacostia.
